Ideas, Inspiration, Resources

You made the plans in the dark months of winter, scanned catalogue after catalogue for ideas and sources, hunted local garden centres, and hauled tons of soil, gravel, compost and mulch. You endured – in succession – frozen fingers, cold rains, black flies, mosquitoes and deer flies. You battled against mildew, aphids, black spots, sawfly larvae and slugs. You picked and pruned and coddled. Now it's time to take pause. Forget the pond algae, the purslane and the earwigs for the moment. It's time for the reward part of gardening. Sit in your favourite chair. Sip a drink. Listen to the birds singing their appreciation of your efforts.

What could be better? Sharing it all with another gardener.

We've created Gardenshare on the OHA web to help you do just that. In My Garden is a selection of photographs from gardeners across Ontario – people who have shared the same joys and torments you have. In My Neighbourhood is a place to record community projects and programs.
